

SECOND OFFENSE

BROUGHT WORKHOUSE SENTENCE TO SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

Moser Denied Records of Court of Two Years Ago—Assignments For Next Week.

Joseph Moser, a South Market street saloonist, was before Judge Ambler Thursday on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday. He was given a fine of $200 and costs and a sentence of thirty days in the workhouse. This is the maximum fine for a case of this nature.

When asked by the court if he had ever appeared in court in this charge before, Moser said that he had not. The records were looked up and it was found that about two years ago Moser had been indicted for Sunday selling. He was told of this and was shown the bond that contained his signature but he still denied it.

In passing sentence, Judge Ambler said that he was disposed to give Moser a lighter fine but in view of the fact that he had tried to mislead the court, he was given the maximum punishment.

CANTON ATTORNEYS

To Aid the City of Alliance in Two Cases Filed.

The city council had a special meeting on Wednesday night, at which City Solicitor Miller was authorized to secure the services of additional counsel in behalf of the city in two cases of the Alliance Gas & Electric Co. against the city of Alliance. These cases were recently thrown out of the United States district court at Cleveland on the question of jurisdiction and will now be heard in the common pleas court.

The gas company has asked a temporary injunction against the city, which was to have been argued Monday, but was postponed until a later date to allow time for preparation. It is understood that Attorneys Craine and Sterling of Canton will be secured and that the city will fight the cases to the bitter end.—Alliance Leader.

FIRST QUESTION

FOR CONGRESS WILL BE RAILROAD RATE LEGISLATION.

Congressman Townsend Thinks the President's Message Will Cover the Matter in December.

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 12.—"Railroad regulation will, I believe, be the first question presented in the president's message to congress in December," said Congressman Townsend on his return from Washington today, "and notwithstanding the many statements to the contrary he has not changed his mind on the necessity and wisdom of investing the interstate commerce commission with power upon complaint and after full hearing, to declare as unjust and unreasonable a rate or regulation found to be so, and at the same time to order a just and reasonable rate or regulation instead."

"To those who know the president and who remembered his every public utterance on the subject, there was no doubt as to his position. He did not call a special session of congress to act on the measure for the reason that many of the members of congress were in the Philippines with the Taft party; many more of the leaders were opposed to an extra session as the one beginning in December is the long session and there will be ample time to consider it as the senate has had hearings at great length and there can be no excuse for not getting a report from the committees of both houses promptly and the bills laid before the two bodies for immediate action."

"I am inclined to believe there was method in much of the talk that the president never asked that rate making or correcting power should be given the commission. It looks as though an effort was being made to get him to change his mind and at the same time furnish a way out for him by saying that he never really said what he did say in his last message, or at least that the commonly accepted meaning of it was not what he intended. But the president is a master of the English language and those who know him best predict that he will not be misunderstood in his forthcoming message."

"President Roosevelt, like every other man who has studied the question, knows that there are many defects in the present interstate commerce law. He may not expect to have them all cured by one amendment. He will demand some positive relief, and there can be no compromise on the one vital proposition, viz.: The commission must be given power to substitute by effectual order within a reasonable time after such order is assured a lawful rate or regulation in place of one found by it to be unlawful. Such power must include private cars, industrial roads and terminals used in connection with interstate commerce."

MRS. KEISER DEAD

Deceased Passed Away at Columbiana—Relatives in Canton.

Columbiana, O., Oct. 12.—Mrs. Maria Keiser, aged 72 years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. S. Weaver, in this village, last night. She has been a resident of Columbiana nearly all her life and has a large circle of friends who learn of her death with deep regret. For the past two years she has been a patient sufferer from cancer, and for the past few weeks her condition has been very bad; almost all the time she was suffering intense pain.

She is survived by four children, Mrs. S. Weaver of this place, Mrs. Herrick of Canton, Howard Keiser of Canton and Prof. I. N. Keiser, who was principal in the Ravenna schools.

IN SOLITARY CELL

Trial on the kidnapping charge will come later.

TO THE GRAND JURY

ALLIANCE MAN IS HELD ON FORGERY AND LARCENY CHARGES.

The Prisoner Spent Considerable Time in Canton and Is Thought to Have Left Money Here.

Alliance, O., Oct. 12.—Dionessi Salcaion, who is charged with having drawn $390 from the First National bank by forging the name of Antonio Oprean, was given his preliminary hearing before Mayor Walker, Thursday, and was held to appear before the grand jury on two charges—that of grand larceny and forgery. Bond was fixed in each case at $500, which he was unable to give.

A. L. Atkinson, assistant cashier at the bank, who paid out the money; Jesse A. Crumrine, bookkeeper, and Frank Fetters, assistant bookkeeper, went upon the stand and were positive in their identification of Salcaion as the man who drew the money.

Witnesses were called from the Barth boarding house to show when the accused left there, which was Sunday afternoon. He then went to Canton and stopped over night at the saloon of Joe Welcelean. Salcaion claims that he was out there all day Monday until arrested, but Welcelean went upon the stand and swore that the Alliance man came to his place Sunday and left Monday morning about 8 or 9 o'clock, and was not back until toward evening of that day. The officials claim that this would have given him time to get to Alliance, draw money, secrete it and get back. The prisoner's story does not hold together. He claimed that he was with friends over at Canton on Monday, and when asked to give their names he could not do so, but insisted that he was waiting about the shops for some of the men to come out whom he desired to see.

Salcaion allowed himself to be led into a bad trap at the hearing. He was asked to write the name of Antonio Oprean and readily did so. When the name was compared with that written upon the check that drew out the money, the similarity was so apparent that it convinced everyone who saw it of the guilt of the man. With the exception of the first letter, A. the writing was exactly the same, even to certain little peculiarities, and differed considerably from the signature of Oprean himself. This writing will be held and used against the accused in his hearing before the grand jury.

The mystery is as to what the man did with the money, and the police have not been able to secure any clue. It is thought that he either hid it or turned it over to someone in Canton. The man has a little Roumanian-sweet heart in this city, a girl in short dresses, who was at the trial.

PRIVILEGE TRADING

WHICH ILLINOIS STATUTES DESIGNATE AS GAMBLING.

is Formally Recognized by Chicago Board of Trade—"Puts and Calls" Go.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—"Privilege trading," also known as dealing in "puts and calls," and designated as gambling by the Illinois statutes, was formally recognized by the directors of the Chicago board of trade today for the first time since the law against it was upheld by the supreme court of the United States.

Following a special meeting of the directors today, at which a room was set aside for "privilege trading," dealings in "puts and calls" began openly and with all the rush and enthusiasm of the days when "Old Hutch," Joseph Leiter, Ed. Partridge and Norman Ream dominated the markets.

The room set aside is known as the "visitors' smoking room" and is on the second floor of the building. One hour every day, from 1:30 to 2:30, it will accommodate those desiring to trade in "puts and calls."

Unless the state's attorney or the police interfere the decision today will be a heavy blow to the Milwaukee board of trade, where many Chicago firms have held seats for the past few years for the sole purpose of carrying on privilege trading, and it is expected that there will be an exodus.

THE GREEKS SEEM TO HAVE GOT THE WORST OF IT

Salonica, Oct. 13.—A Greek band attacked a party of Bulgarian peasants on October 9, between Vodena and Biscovitz. Twenty-three of the Bulgarians were killed. The imperial troops then attacked the Greeks and killed their leader.

On the following day a band of Bulgarians, in revenge, attacked a village near Florina and killed seven Greeks.

Troops Have Left.

Edna, Tex., Oct. 12.—Most of the troops left tonight, and 25 cavalrymen and 12 rangers are left to protect Monk Gibson, the negro slayer of Mrs. Condit and her four children, now confined in the jail. The negro sticks in the main to his original story of the crime, but with many variations.

LEBAUDY BALLOON

Made a Successful Trip and Military Reconnaissance.

Toul, France, Oct. 13.—The Lebaudy dirigible balloon, constructed under the patronage of the war office, made its first successful ascent yesterday with some chief engineers and a party of officers, who made an extensive reconnaissance of the military defenses from Toul to Nancy, near the German frontier.

The balloon ascended about 655 yards, passing over Fort Vendreville and the defensive works in the Haye forest. On reaching the barracks at Blandan the balloon turned back and went directly to Toul, where it descended in the midst of a crowd of enthusiastic engineers and soldiers. The distance covered was about 30 miles, at a rate of 28 miles an hour.

The officers made inspections of the forts and took photos of them, thus establishing the merits dirigible balloons for war purposes.

SAW GOOD RACES

THREE INTERESTING EVENTS AT CARROLLTON FAIR.

Gambling Was Conspicuous by Its Absence—Attractions Were More Numerous Than Ever.

Carrollton, Oct. 12.—The day opened cold and cloudy and gave poor promise of being a good fair day. However, a fair sized crowd turned out to see the racing which was unusually good, some of the heats being hotly contested.

There are about twice as many attractions as usual on the ground and all are of a clean character. Gambling is conspicuous by its absence. Very few wagers being made on the races, and no "strong arm" games being permitted.

The sheep, cattle and hog classes were all full. Poultry is also one of the big exhibits.

The fine arts are very well represented. The fruit and field products are also a big exhibit.

The races opened with the 2:50 trot, which was won in straight heats. The 2:40 pace was the next race on the program and was captured by Margery F. driven by Charles Carnes, who always brings money winners to Carrollton. Olean, another of Carnes' fast ones, captured the 2:22 trot in hand style. Following is the summary:

Pleaded for Leniency for Man Accused of Robbing Farmhouse.

Laporte, Ind., Oct. 12.—Thomas Roanan of New York, arrested for robbing a farmhouse with a companion named Johnson, was taken to Jeffersonville today to serve an indeterminate sentence. Roanan told Judge Christian that he was a member of a prominent New York family and that his father held a government position. Hanly in the case.

Barrett brought the girl here to testify against a prominent physician, Dr. Denman, who is charged with having criminally assaulted her two years ago while she was under treatment. Barrett and the girl were together at a hotel and the arrest and indictment grew out of happenings there, the girl being under the legal age of consent. Denman's case was continued over his strenuous objections.

BELL PREDICTS

THAT PATTISON WILL RUN WELL IN THE RURAL DISTRICTS.

Massillon's Bright and Hustling Mayor Makes a Short Call in Canton. How He Sees Things.

Mayor Bell of Massillon was in Canton Thursday for a few hours, and incidentally devoted as much time as possible in meeting the voters.

Mr. Bell, who is the Democratic candidate for representative of Stark county, has an enviable record in his home city and has many warm friends. As the chief executive of Massillon, the business men have indorsed his administration, which has been business-like and free from any suspicion of graft, now so prevalent in many Ohio cities. He is not only the friend of the business men, but is heartily identified with the trades unions and has done much for their interest.

Mr. Bell is a young man, with a bright future, and his friends agree that when the votes are counted in November there will be a big surprise for the Republicans.

The Massillon candidate figures that Pattison will make a great race, especially in the rural districts. Mr. Bell and a large party expect to attend the Pattison speech at the Auditorium, October 26.
